*Nadine Purcell started a basic outline for the index.
We thank her for sharing her work with us.*

The first Complex Weavers Newsletter appeared in December 1979. Eleanor Best was the editor. Issue number 7, September 1981, featured material by Complex Weavers Canadian members under the coordinator Marceline Szpakowski. Through issue number 9 the size was 8.5 by 11.0 inches. Starting with issue 10 the size was changed to 5.5 by 8.5 inches, and the Newsletter bore a brown cover. Issue 10 was the first done on a typesetter, a real experience as Eleanor had never used one before. The following issue featured computer-generated typesetting. Eleanor continued as editor through January of 1994.

Starting with issue number 45, May 1994, Wanda Shelp became the editor. With issue number 62 in January 2000, the name and size of the document were changed: the publication became the Complex Weavers Journal and the page size was once again 8.5 by 11.0 inches. For issue number 65, January 2001, the cover format was redesigned by Pam Marriot. Kathleen French was guest editor for issue number 75, May 2004. Wanda continued as editor through May 2005.

Judie Eatough became editor in October 2005 with issue number 79. Linda Davis was editor starting with issue number 82, October 2006, and continued editing through issue number 93, June 2010. With issue number 91, October 2009, Linda divided the publication into two sections: the Journal itself and CW organization information. The organization information is not included in this Index.

Beginning with issue number 94, October 2010, the two parts were separated into two publications:

Lynn Smetko became CW Journal editor and Deborah Holcomb started as editor of the CW Newsletter (organization information). Under Lynn's editorship, color became an integral part of the CW Journal, starting with issue number 98 in February 2012. The Journal's online presence blossomed. With issue number 105 in June 2014, Ruth MacGregor became Journal editor.

Through the efforts of our first webmasters, Ingrid Boesel and Jo Earl, many color pictures and other graphics from more than ten years of CW Journal were displayed and archived on the Complex Weavers website: www.complex-weavers.org. From that beginning, thanks to Jo Earl and our current webmaster, Deborah Holcomb, an increasing number of full issues are available online for members' perusal.

To date, Complex Weavers has published four compilations containing the articles from the Newsletter and Journal. The first, edited by Eleanor Best, covers 1979 to 1989 and was first distributed in July of 1990. The following three compilations were edited by Wanda Shelp. Compilation 2 presents issues from May 1989 through September 1997. Compilation 3 contains issues from January 1998 through September 2001, and Compilation 4 presents those from January 2002 through September 2004.

Without the generous contributions made by the authors of the articles in our Newsletters and Journals, this publication would not be possible. The CW members involved with the Newsletter/Journal, be they authors, editors, indexers or webmasters, have all volunteered their time and talents.

About this Index

Both Subject and Author listings appear in this Index, arranged alphabetically. The first number in an Index entry is the volume (issue) number, and the second is the page number.

Compilation page numbers are used for volumes #1- #32. If you have the original publications for these, the index is on each issue's cover, and once you have the issue number, will enable you to find the page you need. The listings for volumes #33 and afterward use Newsletter/Journal page numbers.

After the heading 'Study Groups, Featured' the first article in the Journal issue is listed. Usually this is followed in the Journal or the Compilations by other articles from the group.
